Noteworthy.

In a choir, character of sound is a blend of unique identities. The same is true of great pipe organs. (We know, we're one of the world's largest pipe organ builders.) Like pipes, our Linear Tone Generation Technology (LTG) produces each note independently, each with its own individual harmonic identity. LTG is the only technology that achieves the real phase shift found in the world's great pipe organ ensembles.

And while LTG sound sets the standard all other electronic organs aspire to, only Rodgers electronic organs create the warm, thrilling sound and full harmonic content of pipes. Only with a Rodgers does richness of sound, not volume alone, increase as the stops are drawn. To learn more about Rodgers' world leading technology, quality and sound, contact your Rodgers dealer. We continue to explore the limits of timeless sound. That's why, in every respect, Rodgers is worthy of note.

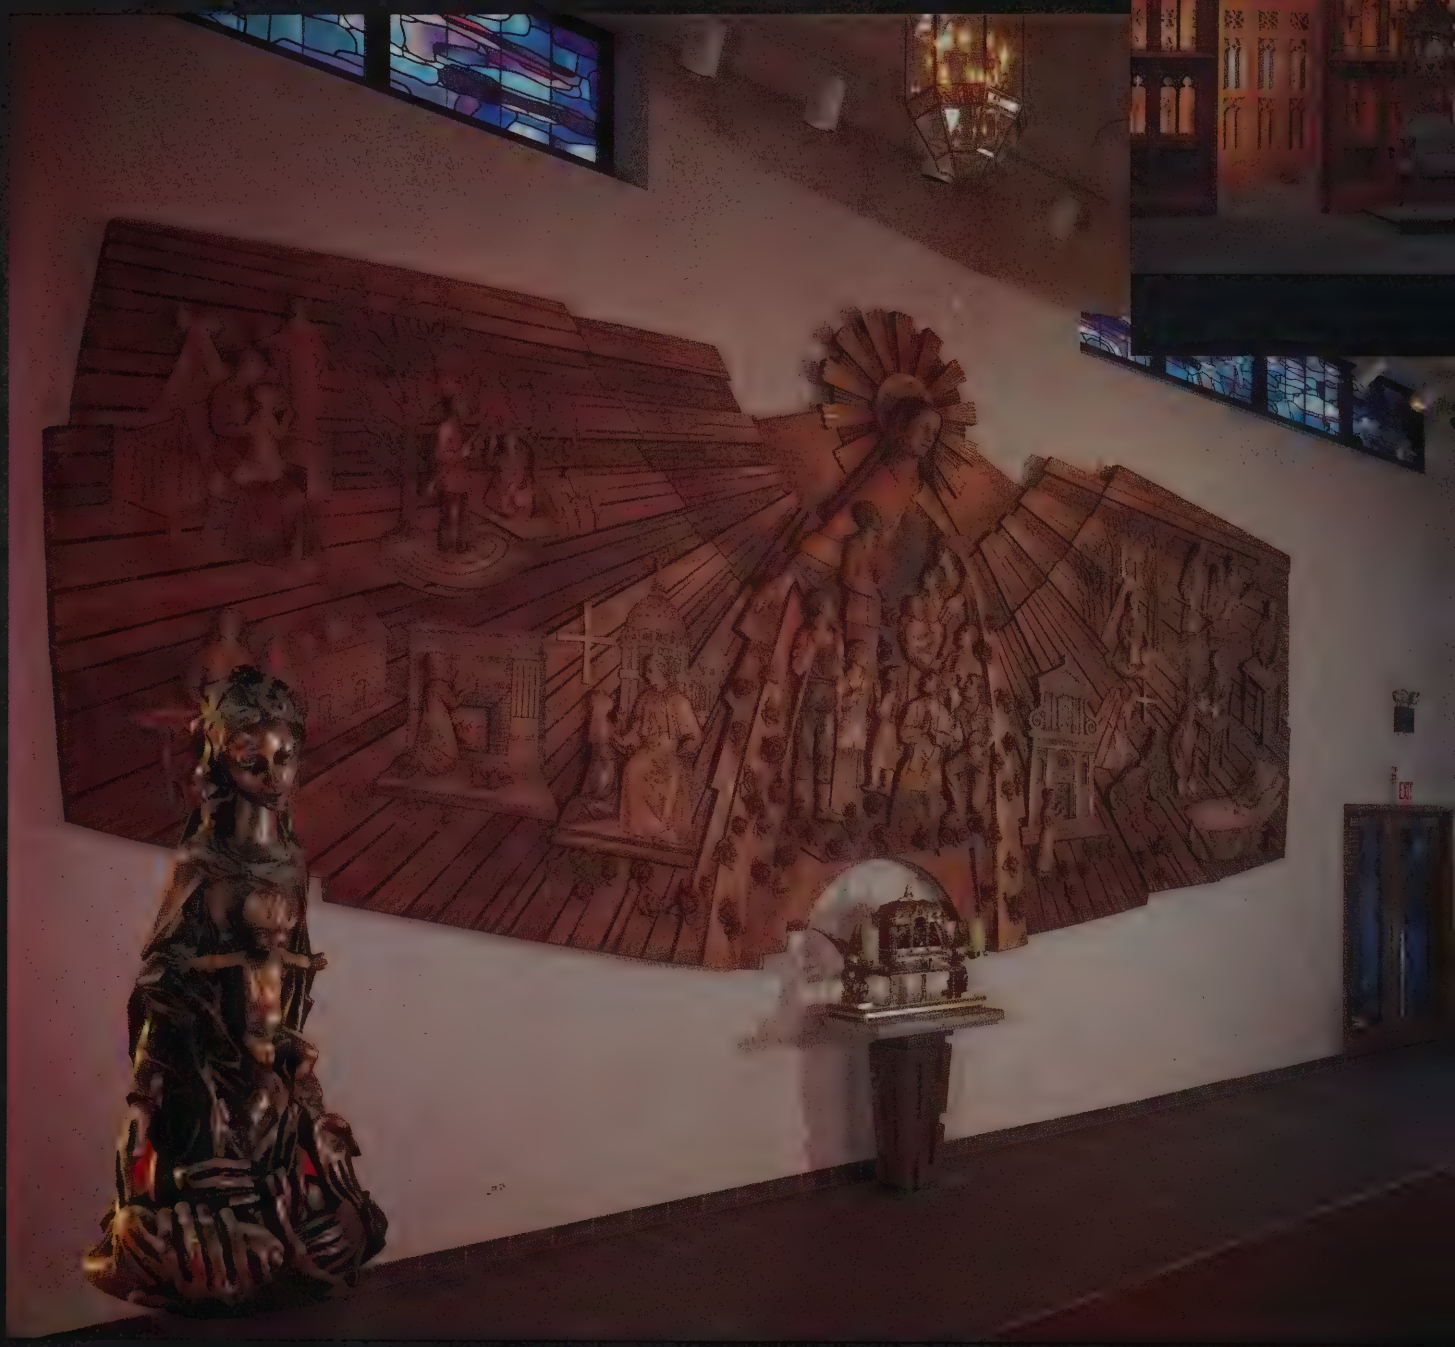
THE ARTIST: MEDIATOR BETWEEN THE GOSPEL AND LIFE
(Pope John Paul II)



The Conrad Schmitt Studios is dedicated to making visible the Christian message.

In our restoration work we strive to retain that which is aesthetically sound, as well as emphasizing a viable liturgical plan for today. Our efforts extend to an overall concept, one which, if accomplished in stages, maintains a relation to the whole.

As the Holy Father summarizes, "The Church is not only the Church of the Word, but also the Church of the Image . . . through both comes Faith."

Q: What Do You Look For In The Selection Of A Fund Raising Firm?

A: At Development Direction, we think two things: Experience and Philosophy

Experience is a mechanical component and is easily checked. There are many good fund raising firms throughout the country. DDI has been in business for 27 years. Its president and staff have up to 37 years experience in all types of parish and institutional fund raising in all parts of the country.

Philosophy, on the other hand, is the manner in which the experience is applied. The difference between fund raising companies is not found in procedure or techniques. What differentiates one firm from another is the way in which the techniques are applied.

At DDI, they are applied in a highly sensitive and personal manner. Each client has the full attention of the firm during the active phase of the campaign. Many clients have taken advantage of our post campaign "mini-appeals" when faced with cost overruns. This is all part of the original agreement. No additional fee is involved.

A large percentage of DDI's work is a result of referrals from satisfied clients. We also conduct a great number of repeat campaigns on diocesan and parish levels. This has to say something about our work.

The Advisory Board...

The National Directory Service for Catholic Parishes was established to help fulfill a need for quality Parish directories nationwide. The Directory Service is guided by a nine member Advisory Board, made up of prominent Catholic leaders from across the United States.

They are: Most Reverend John F. Donoghue, Bishop of Charlotte, NC; Most Reverend Carl A. Fisher, S.S.J., Auxiliary Bishop of Los Angeles; Reverend Monsignor Michael F. Farina, Director, Paul VI Institute for the Arts, Washington, D.C.; Reverend Monsignor Edward C. Foster, Deputy Director External Affairs, Catholic Relief Services New York; Reverend Virgil Elizondo, Rector of the Cathedral of San Fernando San Antonio, TX; Sister Catherine T. McNamee, President, National Catholic Educational Association, Washington, D.C.; Sister Martha Mary McGaw, co-editor of the Sooner Catholic, Okahoma City; Arthur L. McKenna, General Manager of Catholic New York; W. King Pound, President, King Pound Advertising, Inc., Washington, D.C.

The Advisory Board has two main responsibilities. First, the Board serves as an observation group to insure the high standards of the Parish Directory Service are maintained. Secondly, the Board will review and select a Catholic charitable organization which will benefit directly from royalties recieved through the sale of additional portraits. S.O.A.R. (Support Our Aging Religious) was the recipient of over $30,000 in directory service royalities during the first year.

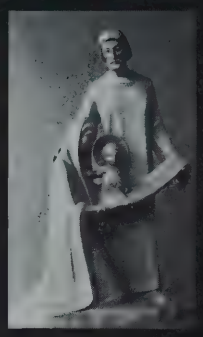
WHEN THE SPIRITUAL NEED IS GREAT, SO ARE THE REWARDS.

You're on a field exercise. A young soldier walks up. He's 3,000 miles from home with no one to turn to but you, an Army priest.



The need is real. Not just for him, but for 500,000 practicing Catholics: soldiers, wives, children, and many other members of the Army community.

As an Army priest, you'll do more than administer the sacraments to those in need. You'll care for a group of young people at a time in their lives when you can truly make a spiritual difference. And because you live, eat, and train with the soldiers, you'll experience a closeness that few other ministries can offer.

If you'd like more information about the many spiritual, educational, and personal benefits of becoming an Army priest, call the Army Chaplaincy collect at 202-653-0387.

Almy

Outfitters to the Church and Clergy since 1892

The Cassock Alb, the same comfortable, handsome style that has become a standard of liturgical vesture since Almy introduced it in 1972, is now available in oxford cloth. Its opacity reduces the need for underclothing and it has enough body to drape well. The "mostly cotton" blend offers just enough synthetic fiber to insure durability and easy machine-wash care.

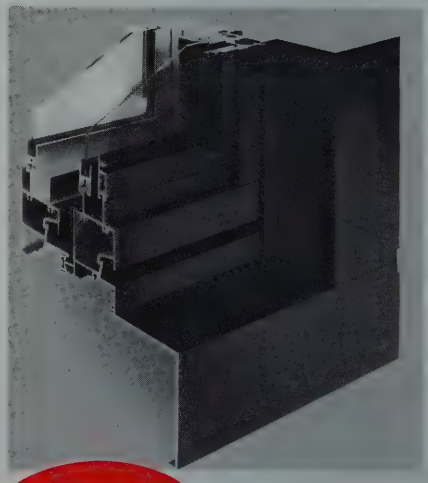
"We are poor people. We can't afford to buy twice! That is why we bought long-term value when we replaced our windows."

ABBOT MELVIN VALVANO, O.S.B.
Newark Abbey, Newark, N.J.

If you have window problems, why not let DeVAC bring you permanent solutions based upon long-term value?



Every educational and religious body has its business side too. Regardless of whether it is housed in a new building or the 110 year old Newark Abbey, secular problems, like heat loss, energy costs, leaking windows and damaged walls, must be addressed.

"Because we rely heavily on donations and contributions, as the primary source of revenue for our Abbey, we must prudently spend our funds." That is what Abbot Valvano did.

"The selection of DeVAC was neither a sudden nor random decision. After much trial and error with other window firms, and after a thorough examination of window manufacturers, we invited DeVAC to offer its solution to the serious water and energy problems we were facing.

The local DeVAC distributor, Window Systems, Inc. of Morristown, New Jersey, supplied sample windows, which were thoroughly tested. We were able to evaluate the test results and calculate the savings in maintenance and energy costs through the use of instrumentation, which gave us factual performance data as a basis for our decision.

Perhaps the most important feature of the DeVAC program is their use of instrumentation to evaluate window performance. Without these tools, it is very difficult to measure the real value of a window design. The alternative of trial and error over a span of time can be a very expensive process in evaluating window products. DeVAC's design maximizes on your investment. Call me and I'll tell you how it was done for us."

"The standards that I set for myself and those associated with our firm are to render the highest quality of service, and to constantly realize that satisfaction in the fund-raising business comes from not only making a success of every campaign, but in helping contributors to understand truly the purpose and value of their personal participation."

. . . Hank Brandt, President

Hank Brandt Associates has carved an unusual niche in the fund-raising business. By developing campaigns to uniquely address each circumstance, clients return to us time and again.

We bring to each campaign insight, motivational techniques, and attention to detail. Hank Brandt Associates analyzes your financial objectives in relation to the capabilities of potential contributors.

Before any contribution is made to a campaign directed by Hank Brandt Associates, the potential giver is made aware of what his or her participation is going to accomplish and thus personally identifies with the objectives of the fund-raising effort. Motivation is the word that turns most individuals into more generous contributors. It is in this area that we are uniquely qualified. Since 1958 the experience we have gained in serving hundreds of clients has given us a rare understanding of people and what prompts them to give in accordance with their means. Hank Brandt Associates informs and guides potential contributors into caring about their generosity and its effect upon others.

At the conclusion of each fund raising effort, we prepare an analysis of giving and participation along with guiding clients through the formation of follow-up committees. Memorial recognition procedures are carefully planned and a well devised system for the collection of deferred giving is put into place.

Our longevity in the fund-raising business, the successful history of our many campaigns, and client satisfaction speak for themselves.

Espiritu Santo Church.
Rambusch creates to reflect a rich architectural legacy.

The Espiritu Santo Church, Safety Harbor, Florida. A contemporary interpretation of the Spanish Mission style. Rambusch was commissioned to design and create the entire interior; liturgical furnishings, stained glass, lighting, restoration of original church sacred art, and color selection. All were designed to enhance the evocative architectural style. The bronze tabernacle with its gilded wood radiance in the Blessed Sacrament Area, echoes Spanish precedents. The deeply sculptured reredos, integral to the sanctuary wall, bears a heroic size statue of the Suffering Christ beneath the Holy Spirit window. The project manager, Viggo Bech Rambusch, President and Chairman, is shown with his twin sons Edwin and Martin. They represent the fourth Rambusch generation since 1898, continuously employing architectural arts in the design and creation of church interiors.

Espiritu Santo Church. Most Reverend W. Larkin, Bishop of St. Peteresburg. Reverend Patrick Clarke, Pastor. Edgar Wilson, Jr., Architect. Rambusch Designer, Thomas Glisson.

Official Catholic Directory Glossary

Advocate

An ecclesiastical advocate is someone approved by Church authority to safeguard the rights of a party in a canonical process by arguments regarding the law and the facts of the case. [Cf. c. 1481 and CLSA Comm., p. 967]

Apostolate

Apostolate is the ministry or work of an apostle, that is, the mission of Christ and participation in it: by charism, by marriage, by vocation, and special gifts, by general supplementary mandate of the hierarchy and by particular mandate, and by close imitation of Christ.

Chancellor

The office of the chancellor (or the Chancery) evolved from the practice in the early Church of appointing an official to sign and preserve the letters of the Bishop. The 1983 Code of Canon Law lists as the first function of the Chancellor the gathering, arranging and safeguarding of the acts of the diocesan curia. Hence, the office is closely related to that of Archivist. Dispensations and other official documents also originate from the Chancery. The canons allow for local adaptation so that the Chancellor in many dioceses continues to exercise ordinary jurisdiction as delegated by the Diocesan Bishop. He may be assisted by a separate official, the Vice-Chancellor.

College of Cardinals

There are three ranks in the college of Cardinals, corresponding to the historical origins of cardinals in the Roman Catholic Church. All Cardinals are bishops but their rank within the college of Cardinals is characterized by one of the hierarchical ranks of bishop, presbyter, or deacon. [Cf. c. 350; CLSA Comm., pp. 288-289]

1) Cardinal Bishops:

There are two types of Cardinal Bishops: 1) those who are appointed by the Pope to one of the six suburban dioceses of Rome and 2) Oriental Patriarchs who have been assigned to the college of Cardinals.

2) Cardinal Priests

Cardinals of presbyteral rank are assigned one of the "titles" in Rome, the "titular Churches" over which they have no pastoral authority. They are bishops whose dioceses are outside of Rome.

3) Cardinal Deacons

Cardinals of diaconal rank are Titular Bishops assigned to one of the "diaconia" or regional divisions of Rome that used to be staffed by deacons in the early middle ages. Cardinal deacons are officials of the Roman Curia.

Confraternity of Christian Doctrine [CCD]

The Confraternity of Christian Doctrine (CCD) is the Church's official association of the faithful devoted to the work of religious education from early childhood through adult life.

Cursillo

The cursillo de cristianidad or "little course in Christianity" is a three-day period of spiritual renewal or of spiritual awakening that attempts to convey a new sense of the dynamic and personalistic aspects of the Christian faith leading to engaging in individual and organized apostolic activity.

Deacons

The diaconate is said to be the first or lowest order or grade of the clerical state. Its origins are in early apostolic times. Any man who is to be ordained to the ministerial priesthood must first be ordained a deacon and exercise the order as a transitional deacon. Deacons serve the People of God in the ministry of liturgy, of the Word, and of charity.

In 1967, Pope Paul VI re-instituted the Permanent Diaconate. Although men ordained as permanent deacons are sometimes referred to as "married deacons," the permanent diaconate is open to both married and unmarried men, with the understanding that after ordination, they may not marry even after the death of a spouse. Under the authority of the diocesan bishop, they perform the same functions as the transitional deacons while, at the same time, retaining their roles in society as family and business men.

Defender of the Bond

A member of a Diocesan Tribunal, either a cleric or a lay person, holding a graduate degree in canon law, who is appointed by the diocesan bishop for cases concerning the nullity of sacred ordination or the nullity or dissolution of the marriage bond.

Diocesan Bishop

By divine institution, a bishop is a successor of the apostles and by reason of episcopal consecration shares in the triple apostolic function of teacher of doctrine, priest of sacred worship, and minister of church government.

The bishop to whom a particular or local Church is entrusted is called a diocesan bishop or a residential bishop. All other bishops receive titular sees over which they exercise no authority.

When the pastoral needs of a diocese warrant, one or more auxiliary bishops may be appointed to assist the diocesan bishop in governing his diocese. An auxiliary bishop does not have the right of succession within his diocese.

In special circumstances, such as age or ill health on the part of the diocesan bishop, the Holy See may appoint a coadjutor bishop. The 1983 Code of Canon Law has determined that all coadjutor bishops have the right of succession in the diocese of their appointment from the time the see becomes vacant.

Diocesan Curia

The personnel and offices assisting a diocesan bishop in directing the pastoral activity, administration, and the exercise of judicial power of his diocese as a juridic person. The Curia includes among its officers laity and religious as well as clergy.

Diocese

A portion of the people of God entrusted to a bishop with the cooperation of the presbyterate and constituting what is called a "particular" or "local" church. A diocese is usually limited to a definite territory so that it comprises all the faithful who inhabit that territory. [cf. cc. 369 and 372, #1]. In the Eastern Catholic Churches, the word eparchy is used to denote a diocese (or archeparchy for an archdiocese).

Ecclesiastical Province

The basic territorial groupings of particular churches or dioceses. A province is composed of neighboring dioceses, one of which is designated as an Archdiocese led by an Archbishop or Metropolitan, who has a special role within that territory. A number of provinces within a country, such as there are in the United States, can be organized into ecclesiastical regions. In the United States, there are 31 provinces organized into 13 regions.

Episcopal Vicar

The appointment of a priest as an episcopal vicar is an option given to a diocesan bishop when a special need is demonstrated for governing a specific territory within the diocese, a group of persons, or a type of activity within the diocese.

Judicial Vicar

By Church law, the diocesan bishop is the judge of all cases in the diocesan tribunal of first instance. He must appoint a priest with ordinary power to judge cases not reserved to the Bishop himself. This priest must be at least thirty years of age and have a graduate degree in canon law. He is called the Judicial Vicar and is sometimes referred to as the chief judge or "Officialis." He may be given another priest as an assistant with the title of Adjutant Judicial Vicar.

Mission

A mission or quasi-parish is one which has not been established as a parish because it lacks one or more qualifications, e.g., resident pastor; necessary financial resources; territorial boundaries or a natural grouping by way of rite, nationality, or language.

Missions are attached to some parishes under the care of their pastors.

Moderator of the Curia

An office to which the diocesan bishop is free to appoint a bishop or priest who is to be concerned primarily with administrative matters and with supervising those working in the curia.

Newman Apostolate

The work of the Church on the campuses of secular universities and colleges, now commonly referred to as "campus ministry."

Papal Representatives

There are three types of Legates (or Representatives) of the Roman Pontiff: those who represent the Pope to particular Churches; those who represent him to particular churches and to civil governments; and those who represent him in international organizations or at various conferences and meetings. [Cf. c. 363; CLSA Comm., p. 302]

1) Apostolic Pro-Nuncio

In the United States, the papal representative is sent by the Holy Father to both the local church and to the government. His title is Apostolic Pro-Nuncio. Although he holds the title of ambassador, in U.S. law he is not accorded the special privilege of being the Dean of the diplomatic corps; hence, his title is not "Nuncio" but "Pro-Nuncio."

2) Permanent Observer to the United Nations

The Apostolic See maintains permanent legates below the ambassadorial level to several world organizations. Since the Papal Legate does not enjoy the right to vote within the organization, his title at the United Nations is that of Observer.

Parish

A specific community of the Christian faithful established on a stable basis within a diocese. The pastoral care of those within the confines of a parish (territorial or personal) is entrusted to a pastor who exercises his office under the authority of the Diocesan Bishop.

Pastoral Council

This is an optional (although strongly recommended) consultative body that has as its primary concern the pastoral activity within the diocese. Its members include laity, religious, and clergy. The Pastoral Council is to study practical situations, difficulties and problems, and make concrete recommendations and proposals to the Diocesan Bishop.

Patriarch

The Pope is the traditional "Patriarch of the West." All other bishops within the Western Church are subject to him, so that even those with the honorary title of "Patriarch" have it in name only. Similarly, patriarchs within nations have only an honorary title unless special provisions are made otherwise. Eastern Rite Patriarchs are subject to the Pope while serving as heads of the faithful belonging to his rite throughout the world.

Personal Prelatures

In addition to the territorial arrangement of the Church into particular or local Churches or dioceses, the 1983 Code of Canon Law provides the possibility of priests and deacons being constituted in special groups having jurisdiction to meet specific pastoral or missionary needs. Such groups are called Prelatures. A Prelature is presided over by a Personal Prelate who is an Ordinary with the right to establish seminaries and ordain priests as members of the Prelature. Examples can be found in the various dioceses throughout the world established for serving the Military.

Canon law also allows for laity to be associated in the works of Prelatures without being withdrawn from the jurisdiction of their own proper Ordinary, the Diocesan Bishop.

Presbyteral Council

This is the principal consultative body mandated by the Code of Canon Law to advise the diocesan bishop in matters of pastoral governance. It consists of bishops and priests serving the diocese.

Promoter of Justice

A cleric or a lay person holding a graduate degree in canon law who is appointed by the diocesan bishop to serve in the role of a "prosecuting attorney" involved in all penal cases and in contentious cases in which the public welfare is involved.

See

The word is taken from the Latin "sedes" ("seat") and is used to denote a diocese or ecclesiastical district. The term Holy See is reserved to the Church of Rome whose Bishop is the Roman Pontiff. The term Titular See denotes a diocese that has been suppressed as a functioning particular or local church. However, the titles or names of such dioceses are retained and given as an honorary title to any bishop not serving as chief pastor of a diocese. Papal representatives, bishops of the Roman Curia, and auxiliary bishops throughout the world are said to be "Titular Bishops" of these suppressed Sees.

Seminary

The term originates from the time of St. Augustine when those preparing for the priesthood were educated in the "cathedral school." During the Middle Ages, the clergy were educated in a university setting where faculties of philosophy, theology, and canon law existed. Eventually individual dioceses or provinces came to establish their own schools for educating their clerical students. Traditional seminaries date from the Council of Trent in the sixteenth century.

A school for the spiritual, academic, and pastoral education and formation of priesthood candidates is known as a major seminary in which the focus is on philosophical and theological education. To prepare for entrance into a major seminary, a period of study is set aside for the required courses in the humanities and the sciences in institutions called minor seminaries.

Tribunal

A tribunal (court) is the name given to the person or persons who exercise the judicial powers given by Christ to the Church. By its very nature, this procedure involves the determination of a legal controversy. In ecclesiastical matters, definite procedural norms for conducting a trial are found in the Code of Canon Law to settle disputes brought before ecclesiastical judges who are competent, that is, who have the authority to resolve the issues at hand. There are various grades of tribunals, including the tribunals of the Holy See itself, regional and metropolitan tribunals, and finally, diocesan tribunals. A major concern of tribunals is conducting the process leading to the dissolution or annulment of marriages.

Vicar Forane/Dean

The Code of Canon Law allows parishes in a certain vicinity to be grouped together in a wider territorial relationship to promote better pastoral care. These groupings are sometimes called "deaneries" or "vicariates forane". They are headed by a priest called a "Dean" or "Vicar Forane." Their task is to promote and coordinate the common pastoral activity within the vicariate or deanery.

Vicar General

Bishops and priests appointed to participate in the executive (administrative) governance of the diocese with ordinary executive power as deputy of the diocesan bishop. The appointment of a vicar general is mandatory for every diocese. This office is designed to facilitate and unify diocesan administration.

The publishers of the Official Catholic Directory wish to thank the Vice Chancellors of the Archdiocese of Chicago for their work in the preparation of this glossary.

The Supreme Roman Pontiffs

St. Peter of Bethsaida in Galilee, Prince of the Apostles, who received from Jesus Christ the Supreme Pontifical Power to be transmitted to his Successors, resided first at Antioch, then at Rome for twenty-five years where he was martyred in the year 64, or 67 of the common reckoning.

PART I

Hierarchy of the Catholic Church

The Hierarchy, as the supreme governing body of the Catholic Church, consists of the Roman Pontiff, the successor of Peter, and the Bishops joined together with him in one apostolic college to provide for the common good of the Church. The Cardinals, now always bishops, serve as the chief counsellors of the Roman Pontiff. The Pope is further assisted by the departments of the Roman Curia. The bishops, of whom some bear the titles of Patriarch and Archbishop, are united with the Roman Pontiff in the governance of the whole Church; the bishops, when assigned to particular Sees, are individually responsible for the teaching, sanctification and governance of their particular Church. Apostolic Vicars and Prefects together with certain Abbots and other Prelates are also joined in this work.

HIS HOLINESS THE POPE

BISHOP OF ROME AND VICAR OF JESUS CHRIST,
SUCCESSOR OF ST. PETER, PRINCE OF THE APOSTLES,
SUPREME PONTIFF OF THE UNIVERSAL CHURCH.
PATRIARCH OF THE WEST, PRIMATE OF ITALY.
ARCHBISHOP AND METROPOLITAN OF THE ROMAN PROVINCE, SOVEREIGN OF VATICAN CITY.

JOHN PAUL II

KAROL WOJTYLA

The direct successor of St. Peter was born in Wadowice, Diocese of Krakow, May 18, 1920; ordained Priest, November 1, 1946; appointed Titular Bishop of Ombi July 4, 1958; Promoted to Archbishop of Krakow, January 13, 1964; Proclaimed and created Cardinal June 26, 1967. Elected Pope, October 16, 1978; installed October 22, 1978.

VATICAN CITY

By virtue of the concordat signed on February 11, 1929, and ratified on June 7, 1929, the complete and independent authority of the Pope to rule in his own possessions was recognized by the state. The territorial possessions of the Holy Father are called Vatican City and within its limits the Sovereign Pontiff's authority is recognized as supreme.

The Sovereign of this small state is His Holiness, the pope.

The government presently is administered by a Pontifical Commission of which His Eminence Agostino Cardinal Casaroli is President.

THE COLLEGE OF CARDINALS

The Cardinals, when duly constituted and proclaimed, form the Supreme Council or Senate of the Church. They are advisers of the Supreme Pontiff, and at the death of the Pontiff those under eighty years of age elect his successor.

There are three orders of Cardinals, Cardinal- Bishops, Cardinal-Priests, and Cardinal-Deacons; but these orders are distinct from those of the Hierarchy. The present Cardinal Priests and Deacons are Archbishops or Bishops. The Sacred College of Cardinals, when complete formerly consisted of 70 members—6 Cardinal Bishops, 50 Cardinal Priests and 14 Cardinal Deacons (Cf. Canon 231Sec.1), but the late Pontiffs, Pope John XXIII and Pope Paul VI named a number in excess of this total. Only 120 Cardinals, all under 80 years of age, can participate in a conclave to elect a new pontiff.

The Cardinal Bishops (except the Patriarch-Cardinals of the Oriental Rites), have as Titular Sees the Suburban Sees of Rome, which are: Porto and Santa Rufina, Albano, Palestrina, Sabina, Frascati, Velletri. The Cardinal Dean has united to his See the See of Ostia. The Cardinal Priests take their title from the "Titular Churches" to which they are appointed: the Cardinal Deacons are appointed to other Churches called "Deaconries." The first Cardinal Bishop is Dean; the first Cardinal Priest is First Priest; and the first Cardinal Deacon is First Deacon of the Sacred College. The Dean has the right of consecrating the new Pope if he is not already a bishop; the First Deacon the right of proclaiming him and investing him with the sacred Pallium. On the death of the Pontiff, the Cardinal Camerlengo has the Administration of the affairs of the Holy See.

The "creation" of a Cardinal sometimes precedes, even by several years, the "publication and proclamation." The Cardinal is then said to be "reserved in pectore," and when proclaimed, he takes the precedence according to date of creation.

The Secretariat of State or Papal Secretariat, offers the closest assistance to the Supreme Pontiff both in the care of the universal Church and in dealings with the branches of the Roman Curia.

The Secretariat handles anything the Supreme Pontiff entrusts to it as well as matters of ordinary business which do not fall within the competence of the departments of the Roman Curia. It fosters relations with these departments, with the Bishops, with the Legates of the Holy See, with civil governments and their representatives, and with private persons but without prejudice to the Council for the Public Affairs of the Church and, as occasion requires, in accord with it.

Cardinal Secretary: Agostino Cardinal Casaroli.
Substitute: Most Rev. Edward Cassidy.
Office: Palazzo Apostolico Vaticano, Vatican City, Europe.

The Council For The Public Affairs Of The Church

It pertains to this Council to treat all matters which pertain to civil governments. It also handles subjects submitted to its examination by the Holy Father, particularly where there is some connection with civil law. The Council fosters diplomatic relations with nations and has charge of nunciatures, and apostolic delegations, jointly with the Secretariat of State.

Cardinal Prefect: Agostino Cardinal Casaroli.
Secretary: Most Rev. Angelo Sodano.
Office: Palazzo Apostolico Vaticano, Vatican City, Europe.

II. THE CONGREGATIONS

The Congregation For The Doctrine Of The Faith

The Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith has the task of safeguarding doctrine on faith and morals throughout the entire Catholic world. It examines all questions which touch faith and morals or are connected with the faith itself. It also examines new doctrines and opinions and promotes study on these matters. This Sacred Congregation reproves doctrines opposed to the principles of the faith after the interested Bishops of a region have been heard. It studies the books referred to it and, if necessary, reproves them after the author has been heard and has had an opportunity to defend himself and after the Ordinary has been forewarned. It also examines all that concerns "the privilege of the faith" both in law and in fact. It is competent to pass judgment on errors about the faith according to the norms of an ordinary process. CATHOLIC DIOCESAN AND PROVINCE BOUNDARIES
IN THE UNITED STATES

PART II
The Catholic Church in the United States

The organizational structure of the Catholic Church in the United States consists of 33 Provinces with as many Archdioceses (Metropolitan Sees); 148 Suffragan Sees (Dioceses); The Military Archdiocese; four Eastern-Rite jurisdictions immediately subject to the Holy See in Rome. The Eparchies of St. Maron (Maronites), Newton (Melkites), St. Thomas the Apostle of Detroit (Chaldeans) and St. George Martyr of Canton, Ohio (Romanians). Each of these jurisdictions is under the direction of an Archbishop and Bishop called an Ordinary, who has apostolic responsibility and authority for the pastoral service of the people in his care.

The structure includes the territorial espiscopal conference known as the National Conference of Catholic Bishops. In and through this body, which is strictly ecclesiastical and has defined juridical authority, the Bishops exercise their collegiate pastorate over the Church in the entire country.

Related to the NCCB is the United States Catholic Conference, a civil corporation and operational secretariat through which the Bishops, in cooperation with other members of the Church, act on a wider-than-ecclesiastical scale for the good of the Church and society in the United States.

Please refer to each individual Diocesan and Archdiocesan listing for complete and detailed information.

National Conference of Catholic Bishops

Address—3211 Fourth St., Washington, DC 20017-1194.
℡ 202-541-3000.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops (NCCB) is a canonical entity operating in accordance with the Conciliar Decree Christus Dominus. Its purpose is to foster the Church's mission to mankind by providing the Bishops of this country with an opportunity to exchange views and insights of prudence and experience and to exercise in a joint manner their pastoral office. The NCCB is the successor to the Annual Meeting of the Bishops of the United States, approved in the brief "Communes" issued by Pope Benedict XV, April 10, 1919 and in a special letter of Pius XI issued on August 10, 1927. The present NCCB statutes with some slight amendment are those originally approved by the Sacred Consistorial Congregation in a decree issued on June 22, 1922.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops is composed of every Bishop, residential or titular, who serves the Church in the United States, its territories or possessions. Each Bishop has an active and passive voice in the Conference. Under certain conditions, enunciated in conciliar legislation, the National Conference of Catholic Bishops can initiate actions that are juridically binding on all the bishops of the country.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops is presided over by a president who is elected by the general membership. Other officers of the organization are a vice president, secretary, treasurer and general secretary. The organization functions through forty-four different bishops' committees. The National Conference of Catholic Bishops is a distinct entity from the United States Catholic Conference. Its relationship to the USCC is that of a sponsoring organization.

Catholic Relief Services-USCC: The official overseas aid and development agency of American Catholics; it is a separately incorporated organization of the U.S. Catholic Conference.

CRS was founded in 1943 by the bishops of the United States to help civilians in Europe and North Africa caught in the disruption and devastation of World War II.

As conditions in Europe improved, the work conducted by CRS spread to other areas-Asia, Africa and Latin America.

CRS maintains programs or projects in 74 countries around the world. Help is given to all those in need regardless of race, creed or political affiliation.

In addition to its highly acclaimed disaster relief work, CRS carries on nutrition and development programs throughout the Third World. These include health projects, school-feeding programs, agriculture development, water resource management and community promotion and are designed to help people help themselves and to raise the standards of living not only of the individual but of families and entire communities.

CRS operations are funded, in part, from the proceeds of an annual collection - American Catholic Overseas Aid Appeal (also known as the Bishop's Relief Fund) - held during the Lenten season in more than 18,000 Catholic churches in the U.S. Support is also received from the Operation Rice Bowl Lenten prayer program and from individuals, church and school groups, foundations and corporations. Assistance from the federal government takes several forms: food available under Title II of Public Law 480; defrayment of ocean freight costs on U.S. government-donated foods and relief supplies generated by CRS itself; grants for some emergency operations and grants for community development projects.

Films, education kits, posters, brochures, newsletters, Partners in Development & Alternative Christmas giving info available.

In the year ending Dec. 31, 1987, the CRS global program in 74 countries had a total value in excess of 240 million dollars.
